28	Mount Isa was a neat and tidy town with a tremendous sense of citizenship and community pride. It had great facilities, largely due to the corporate social responsibility of Mount Isa Mines, and a rich migrant community. Dad was involved in many of the police sporting teams and the Foley shield was big. It was a changing period within my family. No air conditioner in our house in that period. In my second stint I was a young teacher posted on my first post and away from home for the first time. It was during a time of change and downturn at the mine and when the mines became owned by outside companies. Blue light discos held at the building where Outback at Isa is now and also sometimes at the Kave at the Isa Hotel. Committed to so many sports as kids, like the Allstars Swimming Club and Mount Isa Swim Club and the Club nights at both of these. Netball, basketball (at Short Str courts), hockey, going with Dad to punters club at Irish Club and playing in kids playground, roller skating rink, rodeos at Kalkadoon Park, they used to have a 10km family fun run around town. Healy State School fete used to be one of the biggest. Mardi Gras Late night shopping Thursday nights and walking between KMart and West Street back and forth. 23	I believe to build a "Memorial Wall" at the top of the "Frank Ashton Lookout /Underground Hospital Museum would be a Great way to create an ever lasting way to Commemorate the 100 year mark. A Memorial Wall would give Direct Reference & Recognition to the Blood Sweat And Tears of the Isa Pioneers and Miners, some of who gave the ultimate Price (There Life). It would utilise this wasted asset overlooking the City and if the area were rejuvenated to what it once was would boost Tourism.... The Parking is right there with the recently built parking area directly below ...It would open it up to the public again and maybe stop the current use as a "Graffiti Canvas" & "Paint Sniffing" Haunt ...Maybe Relocate the Cross as well to the Site...Perhaps a "Time Capsule "could be integrated into the structure to be opened in 50 years time, (setting up the next marker in the Time line)... The Site could be an extension to the "Outback at Isa" being Just across the Road and be part of a Tour...	7/26/2020 2:12 PM
